THE SIMPLE LIFE

Hi, hi, hi! My name is Kendra. I'm a follower of Jesus, and a Bible teacher who teaches through speaking and writing. For the last few years, I've been on a mission - a mission to simplify. As I've been on this journey I've learned something - a simplified life is actually a life that looks like Jesus.

When I filled my house, my wardrobe, my fridge, and my calendar with stuff, somewhere along the way, I stopped loving the things that made me unique and started trying to blend in with the world. I lost my identity. But when I look at Jesus, He didn't fill His life with stuff. He was secure in His identity and purpose and knew that "stuff" didn't define Him. His Father did. That is a message women need to hear today. It isn't revolutionary, but it can literally change the world.

identity

A dive into the first few chapters of the Gospel of Luke gives us a picture of the Father reminding Jesus of His identity, and if even Jesus needed to know his identity, then surely we do, too. Knowing our identity is crucial because it helps us to know our calling, stand firm against temptation, and not be broken by rejection. We see all of this in the life of Jesus.

simplify

As we look further into Luke, we see where Jesus calls us to care more about eternal things than our earthly belongings. Once we are secure in our identities, and content with what God has given us, we are able to embrace the things that make us unique and have eternal value, while releasing the rest to the Lord. In doing so, we find that our schedules, our wardrobes, our homes, our lives, our expectations, and our relationships become a lot more, well, simple.

impact

Jesus' life of purpose and simplicity impacted the world and as followers of Jesus, our aim is to live more like Him. We'll find as we do so that not only does it impact our mental and physical health, but it impacts our family life, relationships, schedules and routines, involvement in ministry, and ultimately, our relationship with the Lord. The ripple doesn't end in our homes, though. A life of simplicity can actually change the world.

A MESSAGE FOR WOMEN...

Society plays tug o' war with our bodies, finances, relationships, and schedules - either way, we're going to end up falling into the muddy pit of envy and dissatisfaction unless we just stop playing the game now. And while we may still be pulled and tugged a bit, our feet can be planted firmly because we know our identity. We know whose we are. I long to share this message with other women as we all work to look more like Jesus and pursue... the simple life.

To help encourage and equip women in your ministry, I offer a few packages I'd love for you to consider:

For MOPS groups or similar:

One 45 minute session - $75

Two 45 minute sessions - $125

Four 45 minute sessions - $225

For Women's Ministry events:

One-night event with a 60-minute session - $5 per person ($250 minimum)

Two-day event (three sessions) - $3 per person ($250 minimum), per session
